

Form I-829 Basics

Form I-829 is an EB-5 investor form submitted to USCIS near the end of an investor's period of conditional permanent residence. Unlike Form I-526, which offered projections to USCIS regarding the expected performance and anticipated job creation of a project, Form I-829 must provide proof that the project did create the necessary number of jobs and that the investor's money was invested in the project and remains at risk.

Why This Form Is Important

The I-829 Petition is used by the investor to remove the conditions on his or her Green Card and obtain lawful permanent resident status. This form is used by USCIS to confirm that the investor has met all of the requirements of the EB-5 Program.

Timing Is Vital

An EB-5 investor's period of conditional residence lasts for two years, and Form I-829 must be submitted within the last 90 days of this period. Failure to file the I-829 Petition within the 21 to 24 month window will result in the investor losing his/her resident status.

Next Steps: Data Request Outline & Development Cost / Timeline Templates

The Data Request Outline download offers a simple but comprehensive list of the information and documents you'll need to submit to EB5AN in order for us to help you prepare I-829 Petitions for your project.

As part of the required data, EB5AN needs a detailed Development Cost budget, including both the originally projected and actual final figures, and a detailed Development Timeline. An example budget and timeline as well as templates for each are included in the downloadable Excel file.

EB5AN's I-829 Preparation Service Offering

EB5AN prepares Form I-829 project templates for EB-5 projects around the country. Our team provides the expertise to quickly and accurately update all of the necessary documents as required by USCIS to complete each EB-5 investor's immigration process with Form I-829 approval. Each EB-5 project is unique, and EB5AN has well-established processes to deliver a high-quality custom approach to each client's particular needs.

Contact our team to get a quick, free quote:
call 1-800-288-9138 or email info@EB5AN.com